Aloe Vera

The extract of Aloe Vera is widely used in the cosmetic industry for its strong antibacterial and anti-inflammatory effects. Polysaccharides contained in the extract ensure adequate hydration of cells and due to the active ingredients of the extract, it leads to their faster restoration. Due to its adaptogenic character, it suits all types of skin and has moisturizing and antioxidant properties. Aloe Vera contained in ESSENS antiperspirants comes from organic plantations in Mexico.

Camellia Sinensis

The Chinese tea plant (Camellia sinensis) is an evergreen plant from the family of teas. The plant is grown as a shrub or tree plantations in tropical and subtropical areas at various altitudes throughout the world. The Chinese Tea extract, due to its beneficial effects, is widely used in cosmetics, to soothe, relax and moisturize skin. Chinese Tea belongs among plants with a high content of polyphenols, which acts as a natural antioxidant, helping to neutralize harmful substances.
